VICE CHANCELLOR’S MESSAGE

A warm welcome to the new graduate students who are about to embark on a lifetime opportunity to study at Pakistan’s premier art, design and architecture institution, the National College of Arts. NCA has a history spanning almost a hundred and fifty years and a reputation for being the most enlightened and progressive institution in Pakistan. We offer undergraduate and graduate education in various fields of visual and performing arts. Our institution has state of the art facilities in all departments. The NCA library is one of the finest in the South Asia, with a diverse collection of books, journals and archives. The library serves as a valuable resource for our graduate programmes.

NCA’s diverse student body creates a unique culture of learning. Students hail from both rural and urban centers, bringing to NCA their own customs and perceptions. Together under a single forum presented by the college, the mix of cultures that make up Pakistan are recreated in a novel way at the NCA. At NCA the lifestyle is vibrant, discourse varied and unlimited.

The introduction of various MA programmes marks the initiation of a research-based culture in this institution. The first MA programme was initiated when a Master of Interior Design was introduced, followed by Master of Visual Arts, Master of Multimedia Arts and MPhil in Cultural Studies respectively. It was our first step towards developing a serious academic approach in the discipline of art and design. The quality of this research based approach is evident in the final thesis show presented by our graduating students each year. I invite you to be a part of an experience that will expand the horizons of your sensibility.

I look forward to acquainting myself with the new graduate student body, and to seeing their work become a pivotal part of national and international discourse.

INTRODUCTION

HISTORY AND HERITAGE

In reaction to the Industrial Revolution, a worldwide movement of Arts & Crafts (1850-1920) gained strength. It envisaged indigenous art & crafts as an essential part of artistic and industrial progress. One of the chief exponents of this Arts and Crafts Movement was William Morris and many of the proponents of art and craft education were his followers. In the context of this Movement, Sir JJ School of Arts, Bombay, Govt. College of Art, Madras, Govt. College of Art and Craft, Calcutta and the Mayo School of Arts, Lahore were established by the Crown in India. The Mayo School of Industrial Art was set up in memory of the assassinated British Viceroy of India, Lord Mayo. John Lockwood Kipling (father of author Rudyard Kipling), a teacher of painting, sculpture and architectural embellishment and proponent of the Arts and Crafts Movement working then at the J.J. School of Art Bombay, was appointed as the Mayo School of Art’s First Principal. He also held charge as the curator of the Central Museum, Lahore.

The Mayo School of Art established in 1875 on the lines of the Kensington model, in conjunction with the Central Museum, was meant to document the arts and crafts of the Punjab, with the aim of training excellent craftsmen. The Mayo School became a center of craft excellence under the direction of J.L Kipling, Sir Percy Brown, Lionel Heath, Bhai Ram Singh and S. N. Gupta. The School was also tasked with the monitoring of craft institutions of the Punjab. Over the years, fine arts, architectural drafting and drawing, embellishment crafts, woodwork, wood carving, weaving, embroidery, blacksmith, metalwork and bookbinding. Following the partition of the Indian Subcontinent, the Mayo School underwent many changes. From 1956 to 1958 the Mayo School went through a process of restructuring by the Government of Pakistan and was elevated to the Mayo School of Arts, Lahore.

The Mayo School of Art’s first Principal along with proper workshops equipped with tools and machines. In 1902, four large machine workshops and photo-lithography studio also became functional. The fountain in the front of the main entrance was designed by Sirdar Bahadur Bhai Ram Singh, much admired as a designer and craftsman. Because of his exceptional skill, he was commissioned to decorate a section of Queen Victoria’s Osborne House. NCA is ideally located in the heart of the cultural capital and enjoys a historically rich neighbourhood. Kipling utilized his crafts and sculpture background to construct a comparatively simple but elegantly detailed structure. The College is flanked on either side by the Lahore Museum and the Town Hall respectively, with the Punjab University Old Campus across the road. The lure of the city for students is not just limited to the history of hosting performing arts. An academic plan has been developed to ensure continuity in the integrated teaching of the visual arts through the combined foundation course. To encourage cultural diversity and for horizontal and vertical integration of the student body, the Rawalpindi Campus admits students countrywide, following the same procedure of admission. The faculty, in keeping with the NCA model, comprises of a core permanent faculty, as well as visiting, guest and contract faculty, both national and international. The College offers MA degrees in Visual Art, Interior Design and Multimedia Design (2001) and Cultural Studies (2005). The College offers MA degrees in Visual Art, Interior Design and Multimedia Design and an MPhil in Cultural Studies. The departments of Musicology, Film & Television were established a few years later, along with the Centre for Conservation and Cultural Heritage Management. The Research and Publication Centre was established in 1999, and has produced milestone publications on history, art, and social sciences. A project for the restoration and conservation of the archival records of Mayo School of Arts was also initiated in 1999. Today the NCA Archives is considered an essential resource for research on history of art, craft, design and architecture of Pakistan.

THE CAMPUS

The foundation stone of the Kipling Block (now the Administration block) was laid on January 3,1880 by Prince Albert Victor. Referred to as ‘late Mughal’ style, its construction was supervised by a famous engineer from Lahore, Khan Bahadur Ganga Ram, who later became well known for his philanthropy. Initially, the building consisted of six rooms. Temporary additions were made in 1881. In 1891, these temporary structures were made permanent in accordance with a design prepared by the Principal along with proper workshops equipped with tools and machines. In 1902, four large machine workshops and photo-lithography studio also became functional. The fountain in the front of the main entrance was designed by Sirdar Bahadur Bhai Ram Singh, much admired as a designer and craftsman. and international. The campus has a visiting faculty hostel, equipment for studios and laboratories, academic buildings and a library.

The Ministry of Federal Education has allocated an auditorium space in Islamabad with the aim of making our local art and culture accessible to a larger audience. Since the Rawalpindi/Islamabad area has an active body of professionals, many of whom are NCA alumni, the initiative has proven especially beneficial in the exchange of art and ideas, perpetuating a soft image of Pakistan internationally. The National College of Arts holds art exhibitions, cultural symposia and conferences, as well as NCA productions, documentaries and films at the auditorium. A space in the capital city, dedicated to artistic endeavours has increased access for foreign missions to view art and engage in artistic activities. The National College of Arts also offers short courses on various traditional and contemporary arts for the international missions in Islamabad and for the public at large. It is hoped that the activities will not only help us advance our academic linkages internationally but will also help us draw international exhibitions and artistic activity to Pakistan. It will thus foster the promotion of culture, retaining the diversity and plurality of a number of artistic genres. The initiative will significantly improve the ways in which audiences can connect with local as well as international arts.

It is the student body that truly makes the NCA distinctive. Our students come from all parts of the country and from extremely diverse socio-economic backgrounds. The variety of backgrounds, identities, ideological positions and languages become our strength. The diversity of our student body engenders a unique NCA culture where debate and discourse are promoted. This promotes creativity, understanding, individuality and tolerance. Our foreign students are easily absorbed into the College stream.

FOREIGN LINKAGES
International cooperation and cultural exchange has become essential for institutions who think and act globally. Links were established through a variety of activities such as international film festivals, international exhibitions and artist-in-residence programmes. The College has entered into a memorandum of understanding (MOU) with a number of institutions worldwide: The College of Fine Arts, University of New South Wales, Australia, École Nationale Supérieure des Beaux Arts, France, Instituto Superior de Arte Havana, Cuba, X’ian Music Conservatory China, Alberta Film Academy Italy, Sienna Art Institute Italy, Ulster University Northern Ireland, Konrad Wolf Film University of Babelsberg, Germany, Istanbul Aydin University, Turkey and Middlesex University, England for faculty and student exchange programmes. Academic linkage in the field of sustainable design is being finalized with the University of Edgehill, United Kingdom and European Leadership University, Northern Cyprus.

There is an established MOU between the NCA and Visual Islamic and Traditional Arts Programme, (VITA), Prince’s Foundation, UK. NCA is in partnership with Boston Architectural College, USA, South Asia Institute, University of Texas, Austin, USA, Liaoning Communication University, China, Xinjiang Normal University, China, University of Art, Tehran, Iran. These opportunities provide members of the NCA community with the competitive edge. Our programmes bring together students and staff from all over the world. Institutional partners include the British Council, Anniemarie Schemmil Haus, Khana-e-Farhang and Alliance France.
INTRODUCTION

Master of Visual Art Programme provides a unique opportunity to extend beyond the boundaries of art education methodologies available in Pakistan. Whereas the undergraduate programme at the NCA attempts to introduce students to the basics of fine art practice, with an emphasis on the acquisition of technical skills, the MA Programme proposes to emphasize intellectual growth and critical discourse in the context of an already established art practice.

In a time when it is recognized that various disciplines within art practice are converging, it is essential that students are offered the opportunity to understand this change in approach to art practice and discourse so as to locate themselves and their work within a local and a global context. The Programme provides a theoretical and visual infrastructure that discusses local practice and discourse within the broader contexts of South Asia and the rest of the world. The Programme addresses the issue of exchanges of information, and political-historical realities that have created the hierarchies currently existing in the world with reference to the visual arts. The proposed ethos of the course springs from the necessity to understand these dynamics in view of the advent of globalization and multiculturalism.

South Asia is a region that has continuously been in a state of flux and the result has been a potentially rich cultural context for the making of art that is both eclectic and dynamic. This perception of geopolitical reality is a phenomenon which is not simply a part of historical debate, but is concurrent with contemporary issues in art. This awareness can exist only if these issues of the local and the global are tackled at the level of graduate study, in order to establish a generation of young artists who are cognizant of the realities of discourse, criticism and visual perceptions within the context of their own work and that of others. The Programme has, therefore, been structured to provide an interface between art theory and art practice, as well as between the historical and the contemporary.

It is important to recognize the historical and geographical uniqueness of Pakistan within the context of the visual arts and to locate the Pakistani artist within the framework of international debate. The Programme is structured to encourage students to interact with the wider environment of the city and specifically to establish links with traditional practitioners and artists who may fall outside of institutionalized art practice. The course is designed to raise questions and examine pre-established notions of western hegemony within art practice and discourse. Thereby reclaiming and validating the rich cultural heritage of this region and its contribution to art practice the world over.

AIM AND OBJECTIVES

To introduce a program of studies that draws its strength from a two-pronged project of theory and practice. It augments graduate students’ ability to create a strong link between their art practices and theoretical concerns through contextualizing research models in the local as well as global art expression.

1. To build a link between theory and studio practice by exploring relationships between ideas and skills.
2. To develop an intellectual discourse while drawing from disciplines such as Philosophy, Anthropology, History and Psychology.
3. To develop skills in traditional art and crafts and enable students to translate conceptual concerns into visual expression.
4. To inculcate research and writing skills and develop a multidisciplinary approach.

ELIGIBILITY FOR ADMISSION

1. Applicants with minimum 16 years of education or equivalent qualification in the relevant fields with minimum 60% marks from an HEC recognized institute are eligible to apply.
2. Candidates must pass NCA's own aptitude test at par with GAT.

A range of mandatory and optional courses will be offered. Students will be required to follow an individual course of study in all the art practice options available within and outside the campus after consultation with their course tutors.

COURSE COMPONENTS

A. THEORY

ART THEORY AND CRITICISM

The Art Theory and Criticism course shall consist of a weekly lecture followed by a seminar. The purpose of this course is to equip students with a greater understanding of the cultural and socio-historical context in which art is produced/practiced. This will enable them to contextualize the emergence of certain movements and trends in art, thereby providing them with a theoretical tool box with which they can engage critically with art practice.

This will include a lecture series in history so that students can identify a chronological historical order. The course will address the development of the philosophical, economic and political base from which art emerges with an emphasis on the last 200 years. In addition, other issues such as appropriation, globalization, colonization, nationalism and other more general topics, which are central to this discourse, will be addressed.

These lectures will enable students to draw parallels and acknowledge the visual and conceptual exchanges between western and non-western cultures (with an emphasis on South Asia) and understand the nature of the hierarchies that exist in the world today.

THIRD SPACE SEMINAR

The Third Space Seminar will be conducted as a follow up to the Art Theory and Criticism course. This is essentially a bridge between studio practice and the theoretical part of the course; and will be conducted in the form of weekly seminars. The seminars will enable students to understand the relationship between Art Theory and Criticism, and Art Practice in order to develop the ability to relate it to the context of their own work and that of others.

RESEARCH SEMINAR

The research seminar will be conducted weekly over a period of two years. It aims to develop individual critical abilities and articulation skills through a study of the philosophical, structural and formalistic moorings integral to art. A number of prevalent research methodologies will be taught component of the seminar. These will enable students to execute the written requirements of the Master programme, including the mandatory extended essay.

A broader understanding of the creative arts will be achieved through Seminars on the Arts of South Asia conducted with a more holistic approach to include dance, theatre, music, film and literature.

The student’s ability to conduct research shall be assessed by written exercises and through individual/group presentations.

EXTENDED ESSAY

The Extended Essay is a compulsory component of the Research Seminar Course. This comprises a written paper of 8000-10000 words in Chicago format with supporting documentation (audio/visual, etc.) if necessary.

OPTIONAL / ELECTIVE COURSE (THEORETICAL COURSE)

Optional / Elective Course will run during the third semester of the programme. Students will be required to take a minimum of one optional course over a period of two years.

i) Anthropology of Art
ii) Philosophy of Art
iii) The History and Practical Theory of Miniature Painting
iv) Issues in Contemporary Art

All optional courses are subject to change depending on availability of faculty.

B. ART PRACTICE

The programme provides a structured learning experience in which the theoretical and practical parts of the course are devised in a way that they do not operate in isolation but complement each other. Students are expected to pursue a rigorous course of study during which they design and pursue an individual line of research, through active participation and articulate their concerns both visually and theoretically.

The emphasis of the course is to develop individual ideas and intellectual capabilities, particularly with reference to critical, evaluative and conceptual concerns for the production of works of high professional quality. The Programme therefore caters to mature individuals with a high level of commitment to independent art practice.

Art does not happen in a vacuum, but occurs within its own social and cultural context. A multidisciplinary approach acknowledges the interconnectedness between disciplines and thereby promotes a non-isolationist view. Part of the ethos of the programme is to break down hierarchies in art, particularly in the context of Pakistan and the region where historically the boundaries between art and craft did not exist. This programme encourages students to explore and question these boundaries, which in turn provides the opportunity for them to go wherever their research leads them.
The role of art practice is to create a space for individuals to realize their self-expression and to communicate their ideas with a wider audience. Multiculturalism, as opposed to the singularity in approach, is an integral part of the ethos of this course. It is essential, therefore, that students have access to information and interaction with artists from all over the world. By drawing on international resources, students will be able to engage with cultures, both similar and dissimilar to ours; thereby equipping themselves with a varied conceptual and visual base that will enable a greater understanding of their own visual tools.

The Master of Visual Art programme aims to pursue an approach in which students will be expected to find the best means of translating conceptual concerns into visual expression.

The art world has become increasingly aware of the fact that the traditional boundaries between disciplines and mediums are being removed for the benefit of art practice. The programme aims to approach art practice through a broad base, in which various disciplines and techniques may be used. Students will be free to pursue an in-depth exploration of any discipline of their choice, or to cross interdisciplinary boundaries, which allows greater flexibility in areas of concern.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT FOR ART PRACTICE

Although the emphasis of the programme is not on the development of technical skills, it is felt that there are a number of technical support structures that need to be made available in order to facilitate practice. These are listed below. The list also includes a number of more specialized technical support courses that can be accessed on demand by individuals or by a group of students. These are deemed necessary because they provide the opportunity for students to broaden their technical base when the need arises.

PLACEMENT WITH TRADITIONAL PRACTITIONERS

The aim of the course is to question existing distinctions between art and craft, and to learn the processes, techniques and methodologies of traditional practices. All students are required to complete a 4-6 week placement with a traditional practitioner. This will enable them to extend their studio practice and engage with an alternative cultural and visual experience.

MASTER OF INTERIOR DESIGN
INTRODUCTION

The Master of Interior Design programme at NCA was initiated in the year 1999 and is a pioneering venture in training professional interior designers. The duration of this program is 2 years and it is recognised by the HEC and international institutions. NCA has played a crucial role in spreading awareness about the discipline of Interior Design by training professionals who have played a significant role in the development of the design discipline in the country. Graduates of the programme are also teaching at various institutions and have played a key role in setting up new interior design programmes in HEC recognized public and private sector universities of the country. In recent years, this programme is proving to be a base for teacher training for the young faculty members.

A dedicated faculty and well-equipped studios create a stimulating learning environment for the students. A combination of courses offered during the 2 year study including design, materials, colour theory, lighting, drawing, art history, etc, are designed to aid in research and professional practice. The thesis project at the end of the programme is a culmination of the students’ learning and research.

OBJECTIVES OF THE PROGRAM

To create professionals who can impact the market by instilling creative, critical, and ethical qualities in the practice. The graduates are seen as leaders for designing a sustainable and inspiring environment for the future.

• To train professionals seeking innovative and socially responsible design solutions.
• To provide an academic platform for research in the field of interior design.
• To explore the profession and its application in the areas of furniture design, interior textiles, adaptive reuse of historic buildings, etc.
• To train leaders who pave the way for a healthy and stimulating environment for the future, with design that is rooted in the cultural and social sensibilities of the region.

PHILOSOPHY AND METHODOLOGY

The student diversity in the programme can be attributed to applications coming from all over the country with a wide range of creative disciplines including architecture, civil and architectural engineering, design and the arts. This creates the perfect mix of skills and intellectual abilities helping to develop a holistic approach to design with a focus on peer learning.

The initial focus is on developing sensitivity towards the built environment in the context of social environment, culture and life. This is achieved through visiting and connecting with the city and its places of cultural importance.

In the later part of the programme, students are introduced to the tools of critical thinking and analysis for a design that is rooted in the socio-cultural realities of the region. Research methods and report writing are skills taught to the students to encourage a well-researched and structured approach to design in the final thesis project. This thesis project provides opportunity for self-directed studies, allowing students to pursue a selected topic of their choice. Internal advisors and external examiners are the key to comprehensive thesis projects.

INTERIOR DESIGN STUDIO I
This course deals with our relation to space, form, and the environment with an emphasis on human factors, scale, materials, and structures. The course familiarizes the students with the fundamentals of planning an interior space through critical thinking and problem solving measures. Small to mid-scale design projects are pivotal in understanding the dynamics of a space.

CONSTRUCTION TECHNOLOGY & MATERIALS I
This course develops the fundamental understanding of structural units through a study of various materials, their properties, behaviours and aesthetic qualities. Lectures are followed by field visits in order to explain the process and usage of these materials.

HISTORY OF INTERIOR DESIGN I
This course is organized as a chronology of ideas that has shaped the discipline of interior design. It starts with the beginning of human expression through cave art, focusing on major changes throughout history in the Middle East, Europe, India, China and concludes at the European Age of Enlightenment. The course is structured in modules based upon thematic grouping that takes into account major factors shaping societies and their art and design. The students are taken through the historical process with a focus on the evolution of ideas and its impacts on society, art and architecture.

DRAWING PRESENTATION I
This course is designed to teach architectural and interior drawings from a basic line to different complex geometries. It starts with the 2 planar drafting technique, simultaneously addressing the proportions of form into different planar settings. Geometrical drawings are used to explore new concepts of design.

DRAWING II
The course is designed to teach the development of design elements, from basic volumes to different compositions. Besides that colour balancing is also taught in this term to respond to different interior finishes.

COLOUR
This course aims to develop an understanding of colour, the different hues and its importance in interior design. The course focuses on colour and its implications in a space with the principles of colour theory. Critical understanding of tonal variations and colour theory are the main focus of this course.

INTERIOR DESIGN STUDIO II
In this course, students learn the application of design fundamentals in large-scale spaces. The course includes an exploration of complete solutions to environmental, interior, and architectural problems based on space analysis and planning. Coordination of furnishings, materials, user needs, and equipment is emphasized.

CONSTRUCTION TECHNOLOGY & MATERIALS II
This course deals with the understanding of different materials that are used in an interior space. The focus in this course is on the materials and systems that physically create an interior space. The course explores different ways in which different materials can be modeled and modified to translate a creative and imaginative concept into reality.

DRAWING PRESENTATION II
This course is designed to teach students ways in which they can imagine and make their presentations more interesting. They learn different softwares for the enhancement of their presentation drawings. It advances to different tools available in Photoshop to create realistic and nonrealistic presentation drawings that are aesthetically appealing.

DRAWING III
The course is designed to make students improve their observation skill in order to dissect a space into its multiple components. It progresses from basic geometries to the teaching of the drawing of space in the form of one point and two point perspective. The concept of human scale and proportions in a space is central to the course.

FURNITURE DESIGN
The course begins with the introduction to the concepts, function, materials, and techniques of furniture design. The course is structured as design problems involving full scale drawings and scale models in order to take students through the process involved in furniture design. Furthermore, the course will also teach various kinds of finishes available in furniture.

HISTORY OF INTERIOR DESIGN II
This course takes a critical look at the history of art and space design from the 19th Century onwards. It focuses on the impact of technological advancement and changing power structures on culture and the arts. The course begins in the aftermath of the Industrial Revolution, discusses the ‘modernization’ of Western societies and its impact on the globe through imperialism and colonization and explores the mutual exchange of ideas between cultures throughout the 20th century. It concludes the 21st century with a discussion on postmodernism.

INTERIOR DESIGN STUDIO III
The interior design studio III shall explore design issues of added complexity in terms of the range of design concerns addressed in the studio projects. These issues range from adaptive reuse of historic buildings to sustainable interiors to exploring the interface of interior design with other creative disciplines like music, fashion, cinema and literature.
There are two projects during the semester, both of eight weeks duration. The first one is based on the interrelationship of design with other creative disciplines like literature and art. The second project is based on adaptive reuse of historic buildings in which the chosen building has a historical and cultural significance.

3D STUDIO MAX
This course is organized as a constructive tool towards an idea to imagine and develop a 3D space. This course is structured into different categories, beginning with the basic introductory settings of the software to developing an architectural space.

LIGHTING DESIGN
This course focuses on building an understanding of the electrical supply system. It then narrows down to the design of the electrical system in a building. It explores the importance of lighting design with respect to the intensity of lights and the selection of appropriate light fixtures. The course will also teach the fundamentals of safety while designing electrical layout of a set up.

PROFESSIONAL PRACTICE
The course starts with a debate about the profession of interior designer, its role in the construction industry and the responsibility of an interior designer in any given project. The course then proceeds to discuss the professional codes and regulations that affect the practice of interior design. The students would be introduced to the different stages and phases of the project, from the initial concept to the on-site supervision and the relationship between the client and the contractor.

THESIS RESEARCH AND REPORT WRITING
It is a lecture/seminar based course that is focused on applied research methods for thesis research. It covers all the pre-design research culminating in an 8000-10000 word report. The course starts with the students writing a statement of intent which develops into a synopsis. A research methodology with identified research tools and techniques is devised to conduct the research. This finally leads to the thesis report covering the research aspects, case studies, design considerations and design concept.

EXAMINATION RULES
1. In theory courses, a semester report (3000 words) will carry 40% of the total marks while the final exam will be given 60% weightage. The assessment will be carried according to following criteria:
   • Knowledge of the Subject

The Post Graduate Centre of Multimedia Arts prepares students to come at par with prevailing international standards of Visual Arts education in the wake of phenomenal development in Information Technology all over the world. Multimedia Art is an innovative discipline which seeks to unify a large range of art forms. It encourages students to complement their previous studies and work experience with knowledge and skills in design for development of multimedia products.

The Post Graduate Center for Multimedia Arts strives to be the embodiment of traditional and contemporary arts practice with reference to theoretical and historical backgrounds. The Centre, with its interdisciplinary and collaborative approach, endeavors to address gaps within the fields of Fine Art, Design, Art History, and Theory, and imagines it to be a new dynamic space of learning and artistic encounter. More than just a space for design discipline, the Post Graduate Center for Multimedia Arts seeks to inspire students to tell their own stories of the region, Pakistan in particular and Asia in general. We take pride in offering the only programme in Pakistan with a unique focus on Indigenous themes in all forms of digital media.

The Centre offers a Master in Multimedia Art, a Post Graduate Diploma in Multimedia Art and several shorts courses. Students will demonstrate an advanced knowledge of design concepts, storyboard, Concept art, characters and environment development. The course will deal with the cultivation of ideas and problem-solving strategies for the individual/group projects. Students will produce inspirational sketches, descriptive character sketches, object and environmental design. The use of composition and frame, color and shape and other design elements will be explored.

THINK, EDIT, CREATE-I (DIGITAL PRODUCTION-I)
The course aims to train students in pre-production and post production of digital interactive video and give hands on experience of all three phases of digital interactive video production. The projects emphasis brainstorming, story concept & development, storyboards and animatic / pre-visualizations, editing with sound/FX, dialogue and music.

THINK, EDIT, CREATE-I (GAME DESIGN-I)
The course examines practices and methods involving game design and offers a contemporary perspective with reference to fundamental components involved in game design and human perspective as opposed to a technologycentric one. The objectives of this course are to develop an appreciation for concepts and sensibilities of user experience design and nurture skills in the use and application of specific methods and techniques. Furthermore, it will improve individual and collaborative skills in design problem solving. The focus of the course is to develop effective solutions based on the needs of users.

DRAWING-II
This course is designed to introduce students to the basics of Drawing for animation spanning over 16 weeks with 1 studio class per week. This is a foundation course for the animation students aimed at developing the drawing skill sets required for animating in 2D and 3D workflows. Students are also expected to participate in critique sessions as well.
INTRODUCTION TO MEDIA TECHNOLOGIES-II
The course instills an appreciation of the technical and artistic contributions of animators throughout the history of the art and builds a critical vocabulary by encouraging reflective works of animation. The course also imparts an understanding of the economic, social, and technological contexts that have shaped the development of animation around the world and through various lectures discovers lesser-known work from under-represented genres and cultures, and the value of their diversity. The course also explores the varied potential of animation as an entertaining, expressive and meaningful art form.

MULTIMEDIA STUDIO-III
The objective of this course is to impart the knowledge of basic needs for digital production; students will learn to collect data for their final project. This project will make realization, culmination and consolidation of studies. The content of the course will be a resolved piece of theoretical work demonstrating evidence of advanced conceptual and technical capability over an extended period of self-directed study. This outcome should show coherence and innovation in the development of a professional level thesis proposal for final production. Students will make presentations of their conceptual concern in this course which will be pitched and concluded for their thesis work.

THINK, EDIT, CREATE-II (ANIMATION-II)
This course will focus on creating 2D & 3D spaces, and 2D & 3D animations. Students will learn to use Animate CC/ Toonboom/anime studio pro(Moho), Autodesk Maya/Max, Zbrush and After effects. The course aims to introduce students to 2d and 3d tools and their pipeline to produce animations, which they will use to develop a short animated film.

THINK, EDIT, CREATE-II (DIGITAL PRODUCTION-II)
Students will be introduced to the concepts of sequential art and visual storytelling. The course will elaborate introduce the process of constructing the linear and non-linear visual narratives. It will develop the skill-set of sequentially arranging and distributing the varied images in a functioning and communicative format. The course will include overviews of classic and contemporary narrative techniques applied in photography and comics, film and animation. The course will focus on developing the ability of students to apply the learned techniques during the course and will encourage them to explore the new narrative formats through exercises.

MPHIL IN CULTURAL STUDIES

CULTURAL STUDIES I, II, & III
This course brings together some of the foundational elements of cultural theory and cultural studies with the aim of acquainting students with an interdisciplinary perspective that views culture as an unfinished project, where engaging with culture is a critical practice with a "democratizing intent."

GLOBAL IDEAS AND THEORIES I & II
This course will expose students to salient texts and ideas that have laid the foundation for the critical discourse of culture and society. Students would learn to grasp the theoretical underpinnings of the modern mind by placing influential ideas and systems of thought in cultural and historical contexts.

SOUTH ASIAN MATERIAL CULTURE
The course will provide a critical and deeper understanding of material culture and its narrative in South Asia. The students will explore the complexities and dilemmas of materiality for a newer understanding of 'material as culture' or the culture of material. Personal collections, archives, language (text) and places will be introspected as case studies. Various art forms and sites will be examined in light of their cultural, political and socioeconomic context, as well as stylistic development and the emergence of new ideas.

SOUTH ASIAN VISUAL CULTURE
The course provides a critical insight to the South Asian visual culture. The course will act as a comprehensive guide for the students of the South Asian visual culture during and after colonization. All art form sites will be examined in light of their cultural, political ad socio-economic context, as well as stylistic developments and the emergence of new ideas.

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY AND WRITING
The course intends to provide students with tools and techniques to carry out a variety of data collection, analyses and interpretation as may be useful when developing a social sciences/humanities research project.

ACADEMIC WRITING
Students will be introduced to the fundamental aspects of academic writing. This course will teach students to apply the tools of academic writing to express complex ideas and to study different writing approaches in academia.

PROPOSAL WRITING
This course guides students through the process of identifying a thesis topic, designing an approach and research plan, and writing a research proposal for their theses. Regular peer workshops aid the students in editing their own drafts as well as providing a critical outlook on the work of their peers.

THESIS RESEARCH AND WRITING
Students undertake independent research and writing on a topic of their choice with the supervision of the programme’s faculty.

Facilities are available to all undergraduate and graduate students at the Lahore Campus and exist in addition to facilities specific to individual departments in the College. The Rawalpindi Campus aims over a period of time to develop its own facilities, to create parity between the campuses. Students are perceived as collaborators in the development and use of their environment. All facilities prioritize student requirements and are developed through a combination of student and faculty feedback and the needs of quality higher education. The facilities provided at the NCA exist and operate with the understanding that individual needs are as important as the needs of the collective, and that creative expression of its very nature generates its own demands.

LIBRARY

Housed on two floors, the library at the NCA has one of the largest collections of books, periodicals and rare manuscripts. It provides an essential centre of research within the College, and includes a growing audiovisual library, and a large selection of critical texts on contemporary practices. The College library not only caters to the needs of all undergraduate and graduate programmes offered at the NCA, but provides essential reference material for other higher education institutions in Lahore. This is a state of the art facility that adds a significant number of texts, DVDs and CDs to its shelves annually, from an international pool of available resources. It is fully computerized and offers ample space for study and research, computer and internet facilities, scanning and photocopying equipment are available for use by the students. The library liaises with students and faculty throughout the academic year to ensure that individual and collective, and that creative expression of its very nature generates its own demands.

The gallery is essentially a space for teaching critical evaluation and curatorial skill. Apart from housing a rapidly expanding permanent collection of Pakistani art, it regularly curates exhibitions of work both from home and abroad and forms a centre for debate and discussion within the College that is open to both the students as well as the public. When the gallery is not in use as a formal exhibition space it is utilized by students to exhibit their work and cater student workshops or classes. Critique sessions, display of the degree projects are also some of the regular events held in the gallery.

WORKSHOPS

The College operates two workshops for metal and wood. Some of the machines date back to the Victorian Gothic period when this style was in vogue in England, but the bulk of the machinery is now updated. The workshops are competently staffed by teams of trained craftsmen. The foundation course has specific projects designed to familiarize students with the workshop facilities, however students are expected to utilize the workshops as and when needed.

SUPPORT & GUIDANCE

Student counseling and support faculty members provide a framework of support and advice for the student body. Foundation year students spend a significant amount of time in the museum as part of their curriculum, and senior students use the museum as a valuable resource for study and inspiration. NCA graduate students and faculty regularly participate in professional workshops conducted by the museum.
